Please print and mail in with your donation

The Epps-McGill Farmhouse, located in Kingstree, South Carolina, became a part of the National Registry of Historic Places in 2020 and was owned by Williamsburg County natives Weaver and Margaret Singletary McGill. We are currently undertaking the restoration of this vulnerable farmhouse in several phases and raising funds to support this endeavor beginning with the stabilization of the home's foundation and the complete replacement of the roof.

Make a one time or recurring donation to support the restoration of the Epps-McGill Farmhouse. Every donation, big or small, will help us restore, maintain, and improve the Farmhouse and its land.
